What happens to...
the people...the fish... the sea?

Fishing for the Future Film Festival's Online Gallery

Curated by Chris Brookes

A good story is not simply a presentation of information but an engagement with the heart and mind of its audience. It poses provocative questions with dramatic tension and emotional power. This site features compelling audio and video stories selected by curator Chris Brookes for their passion and intelligence in dealing with marine ecological and fishery issues that beset the watery environment around us.
